Event Objective

To encourage students to think independently and creatively about a variety of social issues so they can create intelligence society.
To enable students to think logically and collaborate with their team to build a model.
To provide the students with knowledge of the most recent developments and uses of analytics in numerous disciplines, as well as to arm them with analytical skills to increase their effectiveness.
To educate students on the most up-to-date machine learning strategies used to solve a variety of social problems.

Event Summary

Data Analytics Club hosted an event “Supernova (Critical Thinking contest)” for students pursuing B.Tech Artificial Intelligence and Data Science on September 14, 2022, from 2.30 to 4.15 p.m. in Computer centre 2. The welcome speech kicked off the programme then comes with Idea Discussion Forum. In that each team expressed n number of ideas/solutions for a particular problem statement. Mr. M. Vivek, AP/AI, and Ms. S. Jansirani, AP/AI, who served as the event's moderators, discussed their thoughts on social problems over social pain as well as how to identify problems in order to develop an automated system that will alleviate social pain by enhancing social intelligence in the society. Each team expressed N potential ideas, among that one idea is chosen based on the novelty. Mr.Vivek AP/AI gave brief explanation about the CONCEPTO Event and workflow of presentation for Concepto Event. In this data analytics club event, students had improved their Analytical skills and Intellectual thinking as well as their presentation skill and also students had grasped knowledge and learnt more about,
