Event brief (500 words with photo):

The Coronavirus, a pandemic has made us realize that we all are connected and this entire world is a family. Although connected, medical experts have suggested social distancing as one of the perfect solution to fight against the new evil.

Students as a responsible youth of this country should participate in this battle against the zoonotic disease. The outbreak of corona-virus has also affected the mental health of humans as everyone reacts differently to stressful situations. So in this hour of stress/anxiety let's spread the right knowledge, and ensure them that we are going to win this battle. To understand better "It is not the Corona-virus which is dangerous but it is the quick spread which is a threat".

In order to create the awareness about COVID – 19 among our college students, ECO CLUB of civil engineering and NSS jointly organized the Poster design competition on "Duties and responsibilities of students during and post pandemic for sustainable environment". More number of students eagerly participated and submitted their posters related to the topic. The prize winner details are given below.
